Sunday after the Universal Exaltation of the Holy and Life-giving Cross

As we continue to honor and remember the Holy Cross, we must pay particular attention to what Divine Love is. As we come to venerate the Holy Cross in the center of our Holy Church we realize that God so loved the world that He gave His Only-Begotten Son unto death, so that no-one, no-one should be forgotten and left aside.

But if that is true, how should we look at one another and treat one another? If each of us is so meaningful to God, if

He loves him/her to such an extent that His life is given, His death is accepted - how should we treat our neighbor?!? There are people whom we love in a natural way, who are similar to us in mind, in emotion, in so many ways - but is that love? Does that mean that we love this person as the most precious person in the eyes of God and the most precious person in my eyes, because I want to be with God, share His thoughts, His attitude to life?

And how many there are whom we treat with indifference: we wish them no evil - they basically don't exist for us! Let us look around, here, in our parish congregation, now and week after week, and ask ourselves, "What does this person mean to me?" - Nothing; just someone who attends the same Church, who believes in the same God, who receives the same Communion - and we forget that those who have received this same Communion have become part of the Body of Christ, that God Himself lives in them, and that we should turn to them, look at them and see in them the temples of the Holy Spirit.

On this Sunday let us ask ourselves severe, important questions about the way in which we treat our neighbor and we see our neighbor. Let us devote a whole week perhaps to thinking of one person after the other and ask ourselves, "Is there any love in me for this person?" Not a sentimental love, but the kind of love which in the light of God makes this person precious, - precious to the point that I should be prepared, ultimately, yes, to give my life for this person. This is not asked day after day, but what is asked is that we should give some warmth, some compassion, some understanding, and some recognition to the existence of this person. And when we come to Holy Confession, let us bring that, among other things, to God: does my neighbor exist for me? Who is that person to me? To God that person is everything...if he or she is nothing to me, where do I stand before God?
